

FSAU Launches Online Digital Library (DILI)

Issued
March 27, 2006

The Food Security Analysis Unit for Somalia (FSAU), implemented by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) and funded by the European Commission and USAID, launches its vast Digital Library (DILI) online!! While previously accessible only from the FSAU Resource Center in the Nairobi office, DILI is now accessible anywhere in the world via the FSAU web site (<http://www.fsau.org>).

Climate

The FAO-FSAU DILI is a custom-designed digital library software and information warehouse containing wide-ranging information on Somali food, nutrition and livelihood security issues. Resources include reports, articles, books, power point presentations, maps, data sets, audio/video, photos, and other information items.

Markets

The FAO-FSAU DILI includes thousands of digital items from its historic warehouse, most of which are directly downloadable. Sources of the information include FSAU's own archive of information items as well as items from partner UN, NGO, governmental, and academic institutions and agencies.

Nutrition

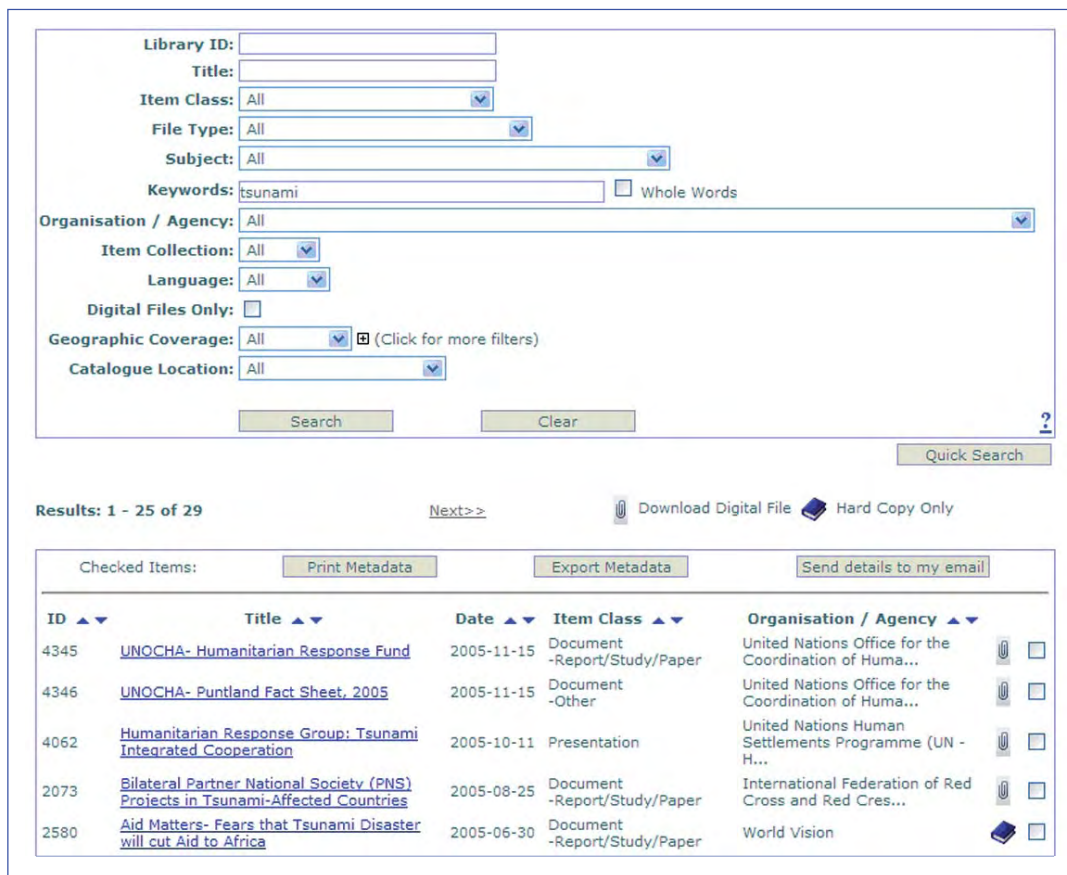

The DILI is accessible from the FSAU web site (<http://www.fsau.org>) under the 'Products' link in the left navigation bar. Items can be searched by keyword, subject, geographic location, organization/agency, and multiple other ways. A sample search showing the first few items for the keyword 'tsunami' is shown below.
